9. Medal for 30 Year Anniversary of the Soviet Army and Navy (Figure 14):
Millions awarded. $30.00

10. Medal for the 40 Year Anniversary of Soviet Armed Forces (Figure 15):
Millions awarded. $15.00.

11. Medal for the 50 Year Anniversary of the Soviet Armed Forces (Figure 16):
Millions awarded. $15.00.

12. Medal for the 60 Year Anniversary of Soviet Armed Forces (Figure 17):
Millions awarded. $15.00.

13. Medal for the 70 Year Anniversary of the Soviet Armed Forces (Figure 18):
Millions awarded. $15.00.

14. Medal for the 20th Anniversary of Victory in the Great Patriotic War (Figure 19): 15,000,000 awarded by 1983. $15.00.

15. Medal for the 30th Anniversary of Victory in the Great Patriotic War (Figure 20): This medal comes in two versions, one for civilians, and the other for military veterans. The inscription on the reverse of each is slightly different. According to literature, about 70% of the 14,000,000 awarded were for military veterans, and the remainder for civilians. $15.00 is the most you should pay for either one of them.

16. Medal for the 40th Anniversary of Victory in the Great Patriotic War (Figure 21): Like number 15, above, this medal has both civilian and military versions. The civilian may be a little harder to find, but don't spend more than $15.00 for either given the millions that exist.

I would like to thank my collector friends, Dr. David Sauber and Frank Paulus, for the excellent photos presented with this article, as well as the great deal of information which has been incorporated into this and earlier articles. Their contributions, along with those of other OMSA members who have written to me, have greatly enriched what I am able to share with fellow collectors.
